Emma has the world at her feet!

EMMA Watson has been voted sexiest feet in the world on a site devoted to celebrity TOOTSIES.

WikiFeet is the work of Eli Ozer, from Israel, who left his job as a programmer and animator to devote himself to the network.

It attracts over 3.2 million hits a month from foot fetishists who want to check out the trotters of A-listers such as Jennifer Aniston, Selena Gomez and Katy Perry.

The website is free to join and members can upload pictures of their favourite celebrity feet.

Users are invited to rank famous feet from five stars ('beautiful') to one star ('ugly').

Former Harry Potter actress Emma, 25, currently has the most popular feet on the website followed by 22-year-old American singer Selena Gomez and Roar hit maker Katy Perry, 30.

Former Friends actress Jennifer Aniston, 46, is ranked in fourth place followed by Wrecking Ball singer Miley Cyrus, 22, Transformers actress Megan Fox, 29, and Barbados-born crooner Rihanna, 27.

Completing the Top 10 list is Birdman star Emma Stone, 26, American singer Victoria Justice, 22, and Ted actress Mila Kunis, 31.

George costs 3m working Brits £1,350

MORE than three million working people will lose an average of £1,350 next year because of changes to tax credit thresholds announced in this month's Budget, according to figures from the House of Commons Library.

Chancellor George Osborne (above) announced plans to cut from £6,420 to £3,850 the earnings level above which tax credits are withdrawn from April 2016, as well as speeding up the rate at which the benefit is lost as pay rises.

Figures obtained by senior Labour MP Frank Field showed that the policy will hit families across the UK earning up to £30,000, with the worst-affected losing £2,884 next year.

Workers on £3,850 to £6,420 will lose 48p for every extra pound they earn.

Mr Field said the threshold change would hit the "strivers" who the Conservative Party have said they want to support.

French strikers block Eurotunnel

STRIKING French ferry workers blocked access to the loading terminal for the Eurotunnel that links France and Britain, delaying freight and passengers hoping to cross the Channel.

The workers have repeatedly protested against expected job cuts in the French port city of Calais linked to Eurotunnel's sale of its ferry service.

Calais is home to thousands of migrants hoping to stow away on lorries and cars heading across the Channel.

Some of the migrants were yesterday seen taking advantage of slow traffic and leaping onto the vehicles.

Man held after train hits car on tracks

A MAN was arrested after a train carrying 42 people crashed in to an empty car on a railway track – leaving it a mangled wreck.

The 35-year-old was last night being held on suspicion of obstructing the railway after the crash at Claymills level crossing in Staffordshire.

The driver of the car was not in the vehicle at the time but was later found unhurt nearby in the Stretton area of Burton upon Trent.

Emergency services attended the scene but no-one required further treatment.

Mill blast second body find

A SECOND body has been found in the search for missing workers feared killed when a blast ripped through a wood flour mill.

The victim's remains were recovered from the wreckage in the village of Bosley, Cheshire, where a 1,000C inferno reduced the four-storey building to rubble.

Fire and rescue teams have been working non-stop to find William Barks, 51, Dorothy Bailey, 62, Jason Shingler, 38, and Derek Moore, 62, since Friday's explosions and fire.

Another body had already been found but was had last night not yet been formally identified.

A Cheshire Police spokesman said: "Our thoughts are with all those waiting for news of loved ones."

SAD LEW'S FAREWELL TO JULES

FORMULA One world champion Lewis Hamilton joined other drivers to say a final farewell to Jules Bianchi yesterday.

Bianchi died on Friday night following the brain injuries he suffered in a crash at the Japanese Grand Prix on October 5.

The 25-year-old, who had been tipped to be a future world champion, never regained consciousness after he hit a recovery vehicle head-on at the rain-lashed race in Suzuka.

He was the first F1 driver to die as a result of injuries sustained at a grand prix weekend since Ayrton Senna was killed at the San Marino Grand Prix in 1994.

Hamilton, who posted an emotive tribute on his social media accounts to Bianchi on Monday evening, joined mourners at Sainte Reparatrice Cathedral in Nice to pay their respects to Bianchi.

Accompanying a picture with his newly-born niece, Hamilton wrote: "I've just got to meet my beautiful new niece Willow.

"She was born only hours after Jules passed away. I feel like God needed an angel & chose Jules, at the same time born a new angel to be one day.

Romain Grosjean, a close friend of the former Marussia driver, greeted Felipe Massa, Nico Hulkenberg and Daniil Kvyat as they arrived for the service.

Also in attendance were British driver Jenson Button, Nico Rosberg, Sebastian

Vettel and four-times champion Alain Prost.

Bianchi's race helmet was taken into the service.

Two large portraits of the Frenchman hung outside the cathedral.

It was announced on Monday that the FIA will permanently retire the number 17 that Bianchi used.

Beeb Bill's live C-word bombshell

BBC Breakfast host Bill Turnbull has made an embarrassing slip-up on live TV.

He accidentally said "c" instead of "client" while referring to reaction to a public health story.

But Bill, 59, quickly regained his composure and carried on with the rest of the broadcast.

Turnbull is not the only star to have used the c-word live on air.

Radio 4 Today programme anchor Jim Naughtie and TV presenter Andrew Marr both accidentally replaced the first letter of Culture Secretary Jeremy Hunt's surname with the letter "c".

Naughtie made the slip-up first, and then Marr followed suit.

Naughtie later apologised, saying: "Sometimes things happen in live broadcasting that you deeply regret."

Last night, neither the BBC nor Turnbull has commented on the latest C-bomb.

X Fac Katie has a blast at Cheryl

CHERYL Fernandez-Versini has been the victim of a bizarre attack by a former X Factor contestant.

Controversial Katie Waissel, who Cheryl guided in the 2010 series, claimed the judge is "not a very nice human" and urged this year's hopefuls to "beg to get someone else as mentor".

Katie, 29 (above), said: "People think that I have this huge thing against Cheryl, and granted, I do. I'm pissed off for various reasons. If you ask me, she is fake as shit."

"I just think there's no substance to her. She can be very abrupt and rude. I don't think she's a very nice human."

"My advice to anyone who's going to be on the show would be to fking beg to get someone else as mentor."

And the singer thinks Cheryl will clash with new judge Nick Grimshaw, adding: "I'd put money on it. He's got a short fuse. Cheryl will rub Grimmy the wrong way."

Chip shop owner still trying to fry £85 parking fine

SUPREME Court justices have started to hear a case involving a chip shop owner embroiled in a legal battle about parking charges.

Barry Beavis, of Chelmsford, Essex, has challenged private car park operators ParkingEye who charged him £85 for overstaying two hours of free parking in a busy city centre car park.

He says the charge was excessive, unfair and "legally unenforceable".

Seven justices in London are examining Mr Beavis's case as part of an analysis of legal issues relating to penalty clauses and contracts.

They are unlikely to deliver a ruling until later in the year.

Mr Beavis has already lost fights in a county court and in the Court of Appeal.

It was argued on behalf of Mr Beavis that the charges should be set at levels meant only to compensate for any loss in achieving the aim of deterring overstayers and not to make large profits.

Man killed by rush-hour train

A MAN has been killed by a train as rail safety figures show the number of deaths on the railways reached an all-time high of 332 last year.

The increase in deaths comes despite a record-breaking eighth consecutive year without a fatal train accident, the Rail Safety and Standards Board (RSSB) said.

The man was hit at Raynes Park station shortly after 6.30am yesterday, causing rush-hour chaos in London.

He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police said they were trying to establish the man's identity, but are not treating the death as suspicious.

In the last 12 months there have been 293 suspected suicides and 22 fatal injuries caused by trespassing on main line railways in Great Britain.

Corrie Cath's big sausage hell!

CORRIE actress Catherine Tyldesley has been hit by a giant sex sausage scandal in the ITV canteen.

The 31-year-old babe, who plays Eva Prince in the Manchester-based soap, has just returned to work following the birth of her son, Alfie.

And when she spotted the giant sausages on sale in the studio's canteen, she decided to tweet about them.

She wrote: "Let's discuss the sausages at ITV... They've clearly been on steroids."

But she was soon hit by Twitter trolls who bombarded her with filthy suggestions about where she'd like to put the giant meat treat.

Paul Dews wrote: "Bet you'd love a sausage pleasuring your hairy fanny."

While Sean Bi added: "Do you like a fat sausage?"

A Granada insider: "Catherine's a woman of the world but even she was shocked when she received these tweets.

HERR OF THE DOG!

WE HEV VAYS OF MAKING YOU VALKIES: HRH with one of her prized Corgis

Now the Queen's CORGIS are Nazis

By SAM WALKER samw@sundaysport.co.uk

THE QUEEN'S beloved corgis are all NAZIS!

After being caught up in a Hitler salute scandal the monarch is now reeling after it was discovered her hounds are descended from Nazi collaborators.

The family's first corgi, Dookie, was presented to the Queen Mother in 1933 by dog breeder Thelma Gray.

Another member of the brood was given to Luftwaffe commander Hermann Göring and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Nazi ambassador to Britain.

Dookie, whose official name was Rozavel Golden Eagle, shared a bloodline with the two corgis owned by von Ribbentrop which came from Mrs Gray's 'Rozavel' kennels in Surrey.

She revealed she had supplied dogs to senior Nazis in an article she wrote for a 1940 issue of The Dog World mag.

Von Ribbentrop is understood to have taken the pair back to Germany with him, although their fate remains unknown.

Hanged

He was hanged in October 1946 following his conviction at the Nuremberg trials.

Mrs Gray admitted flogging the dogs to the Krauts when she was told Germany was planning on killing all its three million dogs as part of the war effort.

She wrote: "I feel particularly deeply on the subject, having exported so many dogs to Germany in the past - not only Corgis, but Chows, Scotties, Airedale and Skye

Terriers. "There are four dogs only which I feel have reasonable chances of survival."

"They are the two which I sold to Field-Marshal Göring and his secretary, and the two Corgis belonging to Herr von Ribbentrop. "With all their revolting characteristics for these two Nazi officials were very fond of these dogs, and I cannot help thinking that they will manage to wangle things so that their pets go unharmed, even if all the other German people have to watch theirs die."

The article was discovered by authors Clare and Christy Campbell while they were researching for their book on war pets, Bonzo's War.

Clifford denies sex assault on 17-year-old girl

FORMER publicist Max Clifford has appeared in court charged with indecently assaulting a 17-year-old girl.

The 72-year-old is accused of committing the offence between October 1981 and May 1982 at his Mayfair offices in New Bond Street, London.

He appeared via videolink for the hearing at Westminster Magistrates' Court, but spoke only to indicate a plea of not guilty.

Clifford, of Hersham, Surrey, represented some of the biggest names in showbusiness – including pop mogul Simon Cowell and late reality TV star Jade Goody – in a career that spanned more than 40 years.

He became famous for brokering deals with the tabloid newspapers for kiss-and-tell stories.

Clifford was arrested as part of the Met's Operation Yewtree, the probe set up in the wake of the Jimmy Savile scandal.

He will next appear at Southwark Crown Court on August 4.

Plane 300ft from hitting drone

A LUFTHANSA plane almost collided with a drone as it approached Warsaw international airport, Polish officials have revealed.

Warsaw airport spokesman Przemyslaw Przybylski said the incident occurred on Monday at around 4pm and the drone came within 300 feet of the plane, which was arriving from Munich.

The near-collision occurred about three miles from the airport.

Police are trying to find out who operated the drone, which should not have been flying in that location.

Mikolaj Karpinski, of the Polish Air Navigation Services Agency, said the pilots immediately reported the drone to air traffic controllers, who redirected the plane.

Mr Karpinski said the incident was "serious".

High Wycombe-born Leigh-Anne was out at exclusive party bar Steam and Rye in central London to celebrate the group's No.1 chart success with single Black Magic.

The girls – including 22-year-olds Perrie Edwards and Jade Thirlwall – were also out to celebrate bandmate Jesy Nelson, 24, getting engaged to Rixton frontman Jake Roche, 22.

One onlooker said: "Leigh-Anne left nothing to the imagination."

"And I'm sure most blokes will only have one thing on their mind after seeing her in that sexy outfit."

'DRUNK FINANCE BOSS GROPED FEMALE STAFF'

A PLAYBOY finance boss has appeared at the Old Bailey accused of drunkenly groping three female employees at the firm's City headquarters.

Anthony Constantinou, 33 (right), the then head of financial group Capital World Markets, is accused of six counts of sexual assault and is said to have carried out the attacks in the company's 21st floor office in Heron Towers, Bishopsgate.

He is accused of groping one woman in a stock room, forcibly kissing another employee, and sexually assaulting a third woman by kissing her and grabbing her breasts.

Constantinou appeared in the dock for a preliminary hearing and was released on conditional bail until a plea and case management hearing on September 14.

A trial date has been set for January 4 next year.

Sir David son in shock jog death age 31

FAMILY friends have paid tribute to the eldest son of broadcaster Sir David Frost, who has died unexpectedly at the age of 31.

Miles Frost (above) collapsed while out jogging at the family's home in Oxfordshire on Sunday.

Friends said the financial investor had appeared "in wonderful form" in recent weeks and there was no indication of any health problems.

Sir David himself died two years ago, aged 74, after suffering a heart attack on the Queen Elizabeth cruise ship.

Lord Chadlington, a long-standing friend of the Frost family, said: "It is very sad and very, very sudden. His family are very much in shock, but they are coping fine."

He went on to describe Mr Frost as a "healthy man" rather than a fitness fanatic, adding: "He didn't drink alcohol. He clearly led a life where he wanted to be as fit as he reasonably could be, and he liked having a few challenges."

Short shorts perv in court

A KINKY supermarket shopper was arrested because his shorts were TOO SHORT.

Ian Watkins, 57, was spotted in a Morrison's store by a police officer, who knew he was banned from wearing "shorts above the knee".

Watkins was put under a Sexual Offences Prevention Order for indecent exposure where a judge ordered him to wear trousers below the knee in public.

Newport Crown Court heard Watkins was buying beers when he was stopped by a Gwent Police officer who then arrested him.

Prosecutor Rob Simkins said: "These particular shorts had no lining and Watkins was not wearing any underwear."

Watkins, of Cwmbran, was given a 10-week suspended sentence after breaching the order.

HARDCORE: Real Kate (right) is said to be shocked at sex film which features a lookalike

PRINCESS KATE FURY AT PORN LOOKALIKE'S

BUCKINGHAM Palace has been hit by a new film scandal after a Kate Middleton lookalike's XXX porn video was released onto the internet.

The 20-minute video shows a sexy double of the brunette yummy mummy in red-hot HARDCORE action.

The video is the second time the Royals have seen their arses in the last week – after home footage of the Queen giving a Nazi salute was released.

A source said: “The Royals aren’t happy.”

“The Nazi salute video was a huge embarrassment.”

“And now this video is another low blow.”

“Though I think every man would love to see the real Kate’s Royal assets.”

The sex video, posted on website Youporn, begins with the Kate imitator breaking down in her motor.

She tells her black co-star that the car has overheated and catches a lift to his home.

The actress then shows her appreciation but taking his massive tool in her posh mouth.

The porn star, who clearly has an American accent in the clip, then climbs onto his Johnson and the pair are filmed in a royal romp.

He then blows his load all over her pet behind.

The clip has emerged just days after footage of the Queen giving the Nazi salute at the age of eight was published.

The black and white 17-second clip is believed to show the Queen playing with a dog on the lawn in the gardens of their home in Balmoral, Scotland.

The Queen Mother then raises her arm in the style of a Nazi salute and, after glancing towards her mother, the young Queen copies the gesture.

Prince Edward, the future Edward VIII, is also seen raising his arm.

The footage is thought to have been shot in 1933 or 1934, when Hitler was rising to prominence as Führer in Germany.

In the days after the publication a spokesman for Buckingham Palace said it was “disappointed” that the film had been obtained and “exploited”.

The latest bonking clip emerged as mum-of-two Kate and hubby Prince William, both 33, attended the Sandringham Estate in Norfolk with three-month-old Princess Charlotte where they plan to celebrate Prince George’s second birthday today.

A SCHOOL Miss has admitted seducing a 17-year-old pupil over lunchtime sandwiches.

Amanda Kolosky, 35 (above), said the mid-afternoon flirting led to kissing and eventually full sex between the pair.

She pleaded guilty to misdemeanour contributing to the deprivation of a minor and has been handed two years probation.

Kolosky was caught when a school counsellor revealed the pupil had confessed to his relationship with the brunette.

In a police interview, Kolosky admitted to inappropriate physical contact with the pupil, and signed an affidavit stating, “I admit that I wilfully contributed to the delinquency of a minor.”

She has also agreed with the North Dakota authorities to never work as a teacher again.

A Mandan County Sheriff’s office insider said: “This is bad – it may seem like a dream come true for the boy but this is a serious sexual offence.”

Dressage star dies in horse kick horror

AN accomplished dressage rider on the verge of international selection has died after being kicked in the head by one of her own stallions.

Samantha Cawkwell, 31, who ran Ultimate Dressage Horse with her boyfriend, was found in a field next to her home in Lytham St Annes, Lancs.

She is understood to have gone to a field on Sunday on the three-acre smallholding where she lived and worked with partner Andrew Hackett to bring the horse back into its stable.

But the stallion then kicked out and Miss Cawkwell suffered a massive blow to the head and neck.

Paramedics were called but she was pronounced dead at Blackpool Victoria Hospital.

Lancashire Police said the death was not being treated as suspicious.

STRAIGHT TALKING

FROM UKIP'S DEPUTY LEADER

Brits should proudly fly the flag... like our Yank cousins

I SPENT last week in Washington, one of my favourite cities.

I love the grandeur of the place – from the ice-white marbled neo-classical buildings to the Georgian beauty of the suburb, Georgetown.

One thing that also leaps out at you as a Brit is that everything is just bigger – rooms, beds, lifts, cars, coffees, and definitely the people.

The food is great, too – no, not the hamburgers, but the Maryland crab cakes.

But the best thing about Washington is the hospitality and the locals. They just can't do enough for you.

You're in their country, they're glad to have you there, and they're determined to show you what a great place it is.

Unlike us, Americans are confident in their own skin. They're in your face, they fly their flag, and they're proud of it. They love their country and will tell that to anyone who listens.

Maybe that is because they don't have the same kind of self-loathing, metropolitan right-on intelligentsia that we have here in the UK – like those on the wet Left who think we should be embarrassed about who we are and our great history.

Those who tell us all cultures are equal – when they clearly are not – because they are embarrassed of their own.

And those who think that flying our flag is uncouth at best, but probably a bit racist – Guardian readers, the BBC, and New Labour politicians.

In many ways Americans and ourselves are so different, but as the leaders of the Western world, we share the same problems – primarily what to do with the rise of radical Islamism.

Insane

What I learned most talking to interest groups, politicians and Senators is that they generally don't view the Islamist problem in the Middle East in the same way we do.

We tend to be focussed on Iraq and Syria, which at the moment are being ravaged by the insane ISIS – or Daesh, as David Cameron wants us to call them.

We see the beheadings, the terrorist attacks and the threat to flood Europe with these headcases as the greatest threat we face, whereas Americans view Iran as a greater problem.

They believe that if Iran gets hold of a nuclear weapon then it will trigger an arms race in the Middle East between Islam's warring sects – primarily Shia Iran and Sunni Saudi Arabia.

So American foreign policy is geared towards preventing Iran gaining the capability of producing a nuclear weapon, which after all has stated openly that it wants to see Israel blown off the planet.

Anti-British President Barack Obama is pushing for the U.S. to sign a deal, which will include a promise from Iran to not seek to build or obtain a nuclear weapon, but many in the States view this proposed deal as too soft.

What is clear is that the Middle East is a basket case and will no doubt be the trigger of this century's major global conflict.

The Sunnis hate the Shias, the Saudis hate the West, Iran wants a nuclear weapon, they all hate Israel, and ISIS just seems to hate everyone.

But back to our trip to Washington. We ended with a visit to Arlington Cemetery, where 400,000 of America's fallen lie, some dating back as far as the American Civil War.

They certainly know how to honour their dead, and it's pretty clear how much America has given, fighting for democracy.

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Labour tied in more knots than a Beeb sex scandal

A MELTED candle. A collapsed deckchair. A giraffe with broken legs.

There really aren't enough similes in the world to compare the state of the burst, abandoned couch that is the Labour party today.

Dodgy supermarket trolley wheels have nothing on the skewed, drunken swerving of that once proud organisation.

Their front bench members are tying themselves in more knots than the BBC in the middle of a 1970s sex scandal.

A disastrous general election defeat followed a disastrous five years with Ed Weir sort-of-but-never-quite at the helm, and now he's finally buggered off to the backbenches the party has descended only further into rat-fighting madness.

Quite magnificently – if you can reward staggering ineptness – Labour now finds itself in a leadership crisis even though it doesn't actually have a leader.

Interim stand-in Harrihan Harpison has been displaying all the reasons why she should never be allowed to be in charge of a coconut shy, never mind Her Majesty's Opposition.

As the snarling Tories cheered with joy as George Osborne's £12 billion benefits cuts were presented to the house, Harpison ordered her disorderly troops to abstain – which means, not vote at all.

Jokers

Yes, that's right, the current leader of the party still claiming to be champions of the working class advised colleagues to NOT VOTE on the biggest cut in welfare in a generation.

Citizen Smith, she ain't.

And what of the quartet of contenders lining up to take her place? They seem instead to be applying for the post of jokers in a pack of cards.

Andy Eyebrows was in spectacular form on Monday evening. After abstaining himself on the Welfare Reform Bill vote, he then took to social media to say Labour "simply cannot abstain" on the issue. Even though he just had.

Well, which is it, Mr Eyebrows? Either you vote for the cuts or you vote against. Abstaining is just chickening out.

And people don't vote MPs into office only for them to chicken out of making a proper yes or no decision.

But with Harpison finally sliding out of the picture, this is what she leaves behind – a squalid contest between Captain Indecisive, Mrs and Mrs Dreary, and Loony Tunes of the Left.

The first three are terrified of voting for or against something that might later come back to haunt them, while left-winger Jeremy Corbyn – who nobly voted against the cuts – would likely take Labour back to 1980s' unelectable obscurity.

They used to be very cocky on the Labour frontbench, but they're not so cocky now, are they?

We're witnessing a bonfire of the vanities.

And while Rome burns, the Tories are laughing all the way to the next election.

ATLANTIS STAR 'GROPED MY BUM DURING FILMING'

Victim thought he'd marked her bottom

By BRAD CHADWICK news@sundaysport.co.uk

A BBC telly extra groped a woman's bottom on the set of popular family adventure series Atlantis.

Actor Xavier de la Hueraga, 52, was in full costume when he grabbed the backside of his victim as she sat down.

He squeezed the woman's bottom with his open hand with such force that she feared he had "marked her".

The amateur thespian claimed he was just trying to "break the ice" during filming of the BBC1 fantasy-adventure series.

Prosecutor James Wilson told Newport

Crown Court: "It lasted for a few seconds but it was very upsetting.

"She turned around and saw Hueraga looking guilty and told him to keep his hands to himself."

Spanish-born Hueraga told police the bottom grope on the Atlantis set in Chepstow, South Wales, had been an accident.

Defending, Stuart George, claimed the 45-year-old victim had been "a little over sensitive", adding: "Hueraga found her attractive and wanted to break the ice and befriend her."

The woman extra has "lost confidence in dealing with people professionally and socially" following the grope in March last year.

Hueraga, of Treforest, near Pontypridd, South Wales, admitted sexual assault and was given a nine-month community order and was ordered to undertake 100 hours of unpaid work.

SULTRY Krystal Webb has confessed she enjoys leg-trembling MULTIPLE orgasms!

The 29-year-old beauty reckons that SEX TOYS are the best if you want to feel fully satisfied in the bedroom.

And the busty model – who boasts whoppin' 30FF boobs – admits taking her vibrator out for a spin ALWAYS makes sex better!

Krystal, from Birmingham, said: "I love to masturbate almost as much as I love to have sex. In fact, I've become quite the expert at it.

"I know that a lot of girls haven't experienced it at all, but I'll often have multiple orgasms, where I climax over and over again while I rub myself down below.

"I have a huge collection of dildos too. Some girls collect handbags, but I've got a drawer full of sex toys!

"I especially like using my little vibrating bullet during sex – it feels so intense!"

BABE'S CELEB CONQUESTS & LESBO ROMPS...

By SAM WALKER

HERE are the snaps ITV bosses don't want you to see.

Millionaire wife Natalie Richardson, 37, will appear alongside her rich sun-soaked pals in new reality drama Life On Marbs.

The series, which starts today, follows the cast through their luxury lifestyle in the Spanish party resort.

The 12-parter features the town's most moneyed residents and their glamorous girlfriends.

But Midweek Sport can exclusively reveal that Natalie – one of the programme's most high profile and wealthiest stars – is a serial SHAGGER and raunchy topless model who once NOSHED down on Leonardo DiCaprio's titanic mast!

So, after plundering our archives, here are the 34D showstoppers telly chiefs tried – and failed – to keep under wraps.

Mum-of-two Natalie, from Worcester, said: "I'm definitely settled but I still have a wild side."

"Whatever I want, I get."

Natalie first came to fame in 2003 when she met Hollywood star Leo in a Paris night spot.

The pair then shagged twice after a game of strip poker at his exclusive digs.

The blonde, who was formerly known as Natalie Denning, said: "Leo kept going on about my boobs and he loved fondling them."

"I gave him a blowjob before we had sex."

"He didn't cum, but he was getting really excited and was so erect that I thought he would at any time."

Steamy

Naughty Natalie, who is now married to nightclub tycoon Paul Richardson, has also bonked Blue singer Simon Webbe, former Hollyoaks actor Gary Lucy AND playboy Calum Best.

And we can also reveal that she loves to be SPANKED, enjoys taking it DOGGY STYLE and is into a bit of RUG MUNCHING.

She was even snapped having steamy lesbian sex with best pal Cassie Sumner in 2010.

She said at the time: "I just love taking it from behind, with a little bit of spanking and hair-pulling. I also like to dress up as a schoolgirl

MARBY GIRLS: Natalie with Danni Levy and (above) other mates

– and I've been known to show up at my boyfriend's house completely naked except for a really long coat.

"I have a few different fantasies, but perhaps my favourite is the idea of being attended to by lots of naked women."

"I'll definitely give anything a go!"

Natalie also stripped off with former X Factor judge Louis Walsh for a tongue-in-cheek Tango advert.

The pair were snapped with orange skin lounging around by the beach.

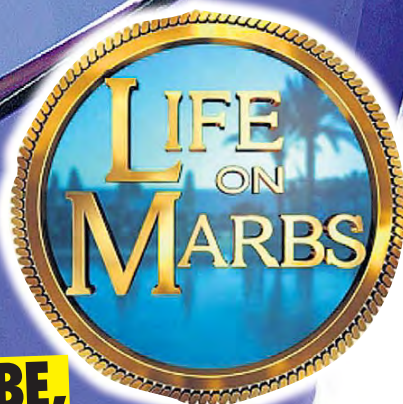

Life On Marbs will be aired on ITV Be and follows the lives of nine party-mad blokes and 12 glamorous ladies.

Bikinis

When asked what makes Life On Marbs different to other reality shows like TOWIE, Natalie said: "My hubby didn't want me to do it and won't be in it at all. He's really private but he didn't have any choice."

"I think the difference is that with this show you have loads of different groups of people."

"It's a mixture of the other reality shows rolled into one. Then there's the sunshine, so we are all parading around in our little bikinis!"

"It sounds a bit wild doesn't it, but he was a really nice guy and looked amazing for his age. I was a precocious sixth former eager to learn and he was an amazing teacher!"

"At the start of that summer I had never seen a naked man and by the time I went into U6 I was an experienced lover with a taste for sex that extended to al and even bathroom play! What a little slut!"

"I reckon the whole experience has had a lot to do with why I love being with younger guys...call it returning the favour, if you like!"

"I have a couple of guys I can call upon when I need some c inside me but most of the time I'm content to just have fun with my phone, swapping texts and rude photos with complete strangers. I've got one-handed texting down to a fine art now...the other hand is generally otherwise occupied! I hope this ad will mean more guys will text me!"

Teacher wife caught in bed with pupil, 18, faces prison

A TEACHING assistant has admitted shagging an 18-year-pupil more than 10 times.

Amanda Askari, 36 (above), confessed to sleeping with the boy after her husband found her in bed with him – and a fight broke out.

The pupil has also been arrested for assaulting the hubby.

Officers claim the brunette now plans to divorce her fella, to be with the teenager.

Grayson County District Attorney, Joe Brown, said: "It was consensual as far as we know, but in Texas, if you're an educator and you have a relationship with a student – whether they consent or not – it is illegal and it doesn't matter what their age is."

"Teacher-student relationships are becoming more common. These are the struggle for the school districts."

"I know they struggle with making sure the boundaries are drawn, they continue to be a problem for law enforcement as well."

Askari is due to be sentenced in September when she is expected to be handed a six-year jail term.

Minions toy saves third floor fall girl

A CUDDLY Minions toy saved the life of a five-year-old girl when she fell THREE storeys from a bedroom window.

The unnamed child escaped with just a broken arm after holding on to the toy, which cushioned her fall.

She was rushed to hospital in Colorado, US, and kept in overnight.

A police spokesman said: "Fortunately, when the child fell out of the window, she continued holding on to a stuffed Minion teddy bear that cushioned her fall."

"The child was transported to a hospital and treated for a broken arm and later released."

It comes after parents claimed talking Minions toys available from McDonald's were prone to swearing.

A spokesperson for McDonald's later said the Minions were speaking their own language, and denied any foul language was being uttered.

The Minions movie is at No 1 in the US and UK box offices, taking $625m (£400m) in two weeks.

HERO LE SAUX SAVES BLAZE COUPLE

SAUX BRAVE:
Former Chelsea

FORMER Chelsea star Graeme Le Saux came to the aid of an elderly couple whose campervan was burnt to the ground near his Surrey home on Sunday.

Le Saux, who won 36 England caps before retiring in 2005, stopped a 72-year-old man re-entering the fierce roadside blaze before he was taken to hospital suffering from smoke inhalation.

The campervan was said to have had gas and petrol tanks on board and was in ashes "in around 25 minutes" after a series of "mini explosions".

Le Saux's wife Mariana told local newspaper getSurrey: "We thought they had broken down. There was an older couple and the wife seemed agitated."

Inferno

"My husband said he would go and see if they were alright, as we could see smoke coming from the side door. He said the wife was concerned and told her husband to come away."

"At this point Graeme asked if there was any gas on board, and the husband said yes, as well as petrol."

"He then said they had to move straight away, in case the gas exploded, but the man was trying to get his wallet. His wife was going crazy."

The inferno happened by the couple's home near Cranleigh, Surrey.

The former full-back tweeted: "It was more a case of getting to the other side of blaze & turning cars back than full on superheroes! Poor couple."

Fire, police and an ambulance attended and the man was taken to the Royal Surrey County Hospital in Guildford, although his condition wasn't serious.

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

IF you're going to cheat on your husband or wife then you deserve to be exposed, so I'm glad the affair site Ashley Madison has been hacked.

It's disgusting – marriage is for life and there is never an excuse to go behind your partner's back.

If you're not getting what you need in the bedroom, you have to speak to them – not go away and shag someone else.

I had a friend who went online and met a bloke in a relationship, she had a great date so she took him back to hers.

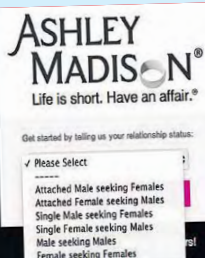

They opened a bottle of wine and then got jiggy.

As soon as he got what he wanted he told her he was going out to get them a pizza...and then he never came back!

Sites like Madison Ashley shouldn't exist and I hope the hackers do release the details of account holders.

It's just karma coming back at them. What goes around comes around...

Fuss over Queen salute is well out of order!

THE haters need to lay off the Queen over this Nazi salute video.

It's a bit shocking to see, but at the end of the day a lot of people didn't know back then how much of a nuttier Hitler was.

The Queen was only a girl copying her mum, so you can't blame her.

Waving

There is no way she, or any of the Royals, would have known that in 80 years' time this would be picked up and published.

It was a private video – for all we know they were just waving and it just looks like a Nazi salute.

And anyway, Hitler hadn't committed all those crimes yet so you can't judge them.

The real question is: who on her staff released it to the press?

If I was the Queen I would be looking into that, because she clearly can't trust who-ever it was.

What is that footage going to change? Who cares?

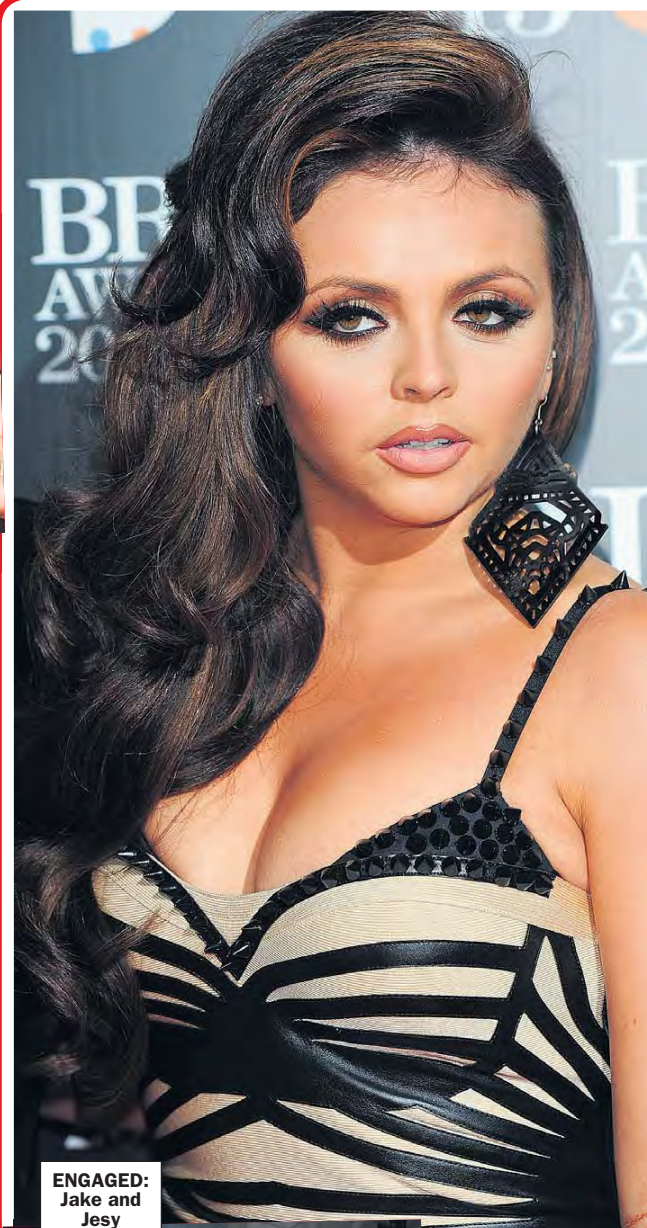

The Queen will still be the Monarch – she's not going anywhere.

And we've all done things we later regret.

The press build people up and then knock them down, it's one big game.

I feel sorry for the Queen having to deal with this.

And besides, I've done much worse things on camera!

ENGAGED: Jake and Jesy

LITTLE Mix's Jesy Nelson has done well to bag herself a bloke – considering she was supposed to be the "ugly fat one" of the band!

I'm happy the pop star is engaged – I'm a big believer in marriage and I hope they actually go through with it.

Mind you, the way Jake Roche proposed was a bit cheesy, I heard he dropped to one knee during a sound check in Manchester with Ed Sheeran playing live in the background.

Ed is to blame for a lot of engagements these days – girls go nuts for that romantic tune of his, Thinking Out Loud.

They are both in big bands that tour all the time – I hope it lasts.

AS you know I've moved into a new house in West Sussex.

I didn't have any windows and I've been without internet all week.

It's been complete hell – I'd rather have internet than glass in my windows!

Things are getting sorted now and I've just ordered a Jacuzzi for the garden.

I can't wait to strip down and get into the water when it arrives in a few weeks.

And I'll definitely be posting a few steamy snaps from it – just for you, guys!

IS THERE LIFE ON MARBS FOR MODEL PAL NATALIE?

I'LL be tuning in to watch my old friend Natalie Denning in Life on Marbs.

Natalie was always around on the London club scene and I'm happy she's bagged herself a nice bloke.

I have a house in Marbella and the whole area has gone down in value, but Elliot from TOWIE has opened a new bar where I live – so hopefully that, combined with this new TV series, will help things.

I love going but it's hard to make a living out there, so I'm pleased that Natalie is doing well.

She's a sweet girl, but watching the show openly admits she lives off her husband.

I think that's out of order – I'm a feminist and believe women should make their own money, not life off pin money from their fellas.

EX On The Beach star Kayleigh Morris gets nippy as she flashes her BOOBS on a night out.

The 26-year-old dropped her dress before giving co-star Melanie Reeves a real MOUTHFUL.

Melanie, 23, looks to be getting a taste for the high life as she LICKED the busty brunette's left sweater stretcher during a night at the exclusive Beaufort House hot spot in London.

Bosom buddies Mel and Kayleigh were both rejected from series two of the hit MTV show.

One onlooker said: "The pair seem to be breast mates."

Ben's gonna run and run for 401 days

A MAN who ran his first marathon just three years ago will attempt to run 401 marathons in 401 days.

Benjamin Smith, 33, will run the 26.2-mile distance every day for just over 13 months to raise funds for anti-bullying and equality causes in the UK.

Benjamin, from Bristol, is hoping to raise £250,000 for Stonewall and Kidscape as he covers more than 10,000 miles – the equivalent of running from London to Sydney.

He was bullied at school, which affected him through to adulthood.

But after coming out as gay and discovering a passion for running, the account manager has found happiness in recent years.

"They are two charities which are close to my heart," said Benjamin.

"I ran my first marathon three years ago. I got hooked and went from strength to strength.

"I got my confidence back and also my self-esteem."

Fact me!

A survey in Melbourne found that mild to moderately depressed women enjoy a third more sexual activity than the non-depressed

Cops baffled by coconut duvet

POLICE were called to pull a dead body from a canal – only to find a duvet full of COCONUTS.

Officers in Manchester were responding to a call from a walker who thought he had pulled a bag full of bones from the Bridgewater Canal.

He noticed the suspicious package floating in the water at about 4pm on Sunday and took it upon himself to haul it onto dry land.

He told police there was a strong odour coming from the bag and it was leaking a white fluid.

Greater Manchester Police tweeted: "Reports of a bag of bones in the canal. Found to be a duvet full of coconuts #strangefind."

It is not known where the unusual package came from, or why someone chose to dispose of it in such a bizarre way.

Becks looks like he's after our Emma!

DOUBLE TALK: Job's a good 'un for Brent, Obama and Becks

C4 celebrity 'doubles' boss prefers 'em Posh!

DAVID Beckham mimic Andy Harmer must be seeing DOUBLE – as he gets to grips with our stunning Midweek Sport girl's pair of massive doppelgangers.

Goldenballs copy Andy, 36, is the face of new Channel 4 reality TV show Lookalikes.

The Premier League pretender, who is the country's top Becks impersonator, shot to fame on Britain's Got Talent as one of the Chippendoubles act in 2010.

Since then he has made a living as

By SAM WALKER

samw@sundaysport.co.uk

the former England captain's double and now runs the Lookalike Talent Agency in Eastbourne, East Sussex.

The one-off programme, which aired on Monday, followed Andy as he runs the agency alongside doppelgangers of President Obama, chef Gordon Ramsay and The Office star Ricky Gervais.

Andy was snapped with his paws round sexy 32D babe Emma Spellar in 2006.

The former Miss Great Britain said: "I love Britain's Got Talent. The shoot we did together was a great laugh and Andy's a real gent."

The Lookalikes show, which took the same format as hit MTV series The Only Way Is Essex, followed the agency's battle to survive and included candid interviews with the celebrity doubles.

Glamour

Ricky Gervais, aka David Brent, mimic Tim Oliver told how he actually works in an office and wants to work full-time at the agency.

But Andy, who works with a Victoria Beckham impersonator, revealed the job isn't all glamour and he had to FIRE a Rolf Harris copy after the real-life Australian comic was jailed for paedophilia.

The agency also features lookalikes of Johnny Depp, Ed Sheeran, Joanna Lumley and George Clooney.

In 2002, when the World Cup was hosted in the Far East, Andy was flown out to Japan, where he acted as a Becks DECOY.

Now retired from playing, Beckham, 40, spends his days in LA with former Spice Girl Victoria, 41, and kids Brooklyn, 16, Romeo, 12, Cruz, 10, and Harper, four.

SEXY Natalia Forrest has revealed she likes to take control in bed – and then FILM the action!

The 27-year-old said she can often be found having a play in front of the camera.

But the 32B brunette revealed she is more than happy to sort herself out on the sofa after a hard day at work.

Natalia, from Shrewsbury, confessed: "There's something about making porn that really turns me on."

Stressful

"It's really hot when I watch it back. It always leads to another session."

"I have this really good little bullet vibrator that I always pull out when I've had a stressful day."

"No matter how bad my day has been, a little play with one of my toys will never fail to put a smile on my face."

Acid woman's naked streak through camp

A WOMAN crashed her car then stripped and ran NAKED through a park which was hosting a Christian youth camp.

California Highway Patrol Officer Shane Borba said: "The woman was on LSD. She was experiencing rapid emotional shifts to the extreme."

"She was very nice and almost loving one moment, then almost completely violent the next."

According to Officer Borba, Abigail Ralph, 26, lost control of her car after attempting to take a right turn.

The vehicle then careered off the road and flipped over into an embankment.

Hysteria

Ralph reportedly exited the vehicle, took all her clothes off and was observed running naked "in a state of hysteria," at a nearby field where children from a Christian youth camp were playing softball. Officer Borba arrested her.

He said: "She wasn't even aware she had been in a collision."

Ralph has been charged with felony DUI causing bodily injury, and driving a vehicle without a valid California licence.

She is currently being held on a bond of more than $75,000.

That's TOW stupid!

CAR-AZY COMBO:
It's an accident waiting to happen

A DRIVER tried to tow a car AND a flatbed truck – by wedging the two together and securing them with a single strap.

The motorist removed the front wheels, doors and engine from the truck to lighten the load before hoisting it into the rear of a grey hatchback.

He then lashed the two together with a blue strap before towing the whole thing along the road in Gloucester, where police stopped him.

Gloucestershire cops tweeted a photo of the potentially dangerous combination along with the caption: "Photos of Boobs in Paradise!

ELIZABETH BOURGUINE

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

SACRE bleu! As TV viewers turn on to these two French beauties – here are some of their breast bits.

Elizabeth Bourguine will star in BBC One detective series Death In Paradise this week.

The 58-year-old actress plays friendly bar owner Catherine Bordey, who helps English cop Humphrey Goodman track down a murderer in the resort of Saint Marie.

The episode, the third in the series, follows Catherine and Humphrey, played by Love Actually actor Kris Marshall, 42, as they work to uncover the truth behind a mysterious killing in the ranks of the Heritage Society.

Exotic

Their findings suggest foul play within the group as DI Goodman tries to solve the case.

But the copper's judgement is impaired as he wrestles with his feelings for sidekick Camille, played by English actress Sara Martins, 37.

The series takes place on an exotic Caribbean beach, so here is Elizabeth in 1986 French flick Cours Prive showing off her own special island hoppers.

I'll give back your dog for a GOBBLE

A MAN kidnapped a dog and demanded a BLOWJOB from the owner before he would give it back.

The female owner of the pooch asked the man to keep an eye on her pet while she went into a shop.

But when she had finished her shopping, the good samaritan refused to hand over the dog unless he received sexual favours in return.

She refused, but he followed her into an alleyway where he grabbed her and started making sexual demands again.

The dog got scared and ran away, and the woman also fled the scene before calling the cops.

After interviews and reviews of surveillance video, police identified the man as Edward Lewis Thompson (above) of no fixed address.

He was arrested by Frederick County Police in Maryland and charged with attempted second degree sex offenses and other assault charges.

CARINE BOUQUILLON

AND if that wasn't enough of the Continental, baguette nibbling beauty Carine Bouquillon gives us a blouse-busting performance during a racy scene in 2006 movie Les Soeurs Robin in which she reveals her Eiffel Towers.

Carine is now appearing as Madame Gorbier in new Channel 4 crime thriller Witnesses. In the series, a quiet village in Northern France is plunged into a deadly murder plot when two bodies are discovered, implicating a former police chief.

Death In Paradise airs today at 9pm on BBC1.

Witnesses follows straight after at 10pm on Channel 4.

Man tells of body in yard to stop wife selling house

AN angry drug smuggler going through a messy divorce admitted burying a body in his garden to prevent his ex-wife selling their house.

Oswald Lewis (above) told the FBI there was a body buried in the backyard of his Brooklyn home to keep it out of the hands of his wife.

He confessed all after being wounded in a shootout with cops.

"I knew she called the police on me because she was sleeping with my friend."

"She thinks she's selling the house this Thursday," he ranted, according to court papers.

"Well, there's a body back there."

Investigators found a body buried in the yard just as Lewis had described.

He knew the dead man only by the nickname "Tone" from Flatbush, and claimed he'd been fatally shot seven or eight years ago by drug dealers at the house, which was also used as a social club and gambling den.

Lewis has not been charged in the murder, but he is charged with attempted murder of police, assault and illegal gun possession.

CORRIE'S KATE TOPS ONLINE POLL

Tracy's soap-er sexy!

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

CORONATION Street stunner Kate Ford has topped an online poll of sexy soap stars.

The 38-year-old babe came Streets ahead of the competition in an exclusive count down of TV tottie.

Kate, who plays fiery Tracy Barlow in the long running ITV show, beat off Hollyoaks blonde Jorgie Porter, former EastEnders star Lacey Turner and Girls Aloud singer Sarah Harding.

To celebrate here is a naked snap of Kate baring all in the name of animal rights.

Hopefuls

A source said: "No-one else came close to Kate when it came down to picking the sexiest star."

"And one thing is for sure, there was no shortage of blokes wanting to take her up the cobbles!"

The online poll featured hundreds of entries with hopefuls Gemma Atkinson, formerly of Hollyoaks, and Emmerdale's Natalie Anderson all vying to take the top spot.

But when it came down to it, soap siren Kate walked away with the top gong.

A source added: "Voters seemed to like Kate because of Tracy's sexy attitude on Corrie."

Sigourney: Aliens went downhill

THE star of the first Aliens films has slammed the sequels of the hit franchise, calling Aliens Vs Predator "depressing".

Actress Sigourney Weaver (above) starred as heroine Ripley in the hit 1980s trilogy that featured evil creatures on spaceships bursting out of co-star John Hurt's chest.

But the star, now 65, chose to have the character killed off at the end of Alien 3 to avoid having to appear in the follow-up – which pitched the creatures against the extra-terrestrial hunters from Arnold Schwarzenegger's The Predator movie.

Sigourney explained: "I heard that Fox was gonna do Alien vs Predator. Which really depressed me – because I was very proud of the movies.

"It's like making Alien Meets the Wolfman."

And the actress also said that the crossover deterred franchise creator Ridley Scott from making another movie.

Fact me!

Bear burglar in bakery pie feast

A REAL life Yogi Bear broke into a bakery and stole two dozen fruit pies and five apple crumbles.

The beast got into the building by smashing a window and climbing in, then helping himself to all the goodies from an oven.

Mikaela Lehnert, owner of the Colorado Cherry Company, said: "He went for the apple and the cherry and left behind the strawberry rhubarb, so he was a picky guy."

The morning after the raid, Ms Lehnert arrived to find their store in shambles, adding: "We have a feeling he knows it's here so he's going to come back."

But despite the damage, the publicity from the break-in has been much appreciated.

Mikaela said: "It's boosted our business because it put our pies and product out there."

Katy Perry's lesbian secret!

GAY
CLUB
TEASER:
Katy

STUNNING Katy Perry has confessed she's a secret lesbian who fantasises about SNOGGING her female celebrity friends.

The 30-year-old, famed for having the best boobs in pop, admits she wants to lock lips with gorgeous pals.

And the I Kissed A Girl singer revealed she likes going to lesbian clubs to tease her minge-licking fans.

Speaking of her love for snogging women, Katy said: "Girls are better kissers because they know what they want."

"I'm the only one who has the balls to say so. "Agyness Deyn is a little punk-rock Lolita – beautiful face and beautiful shoulder."

"I look at her and

By HAZEL GROVE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

just wonder what's turning me on. What's happening?"

And when asked about being targeted by the comfortable shoe-wearing ladies, Katy said: "Only when I go to gay clubs."

"But I hit on women too. Beautiful ones."

I'm attracted to cool, alternative women.

"But I'd only have a drink with them – I'm such a tease."

Katy is currently dating fellow American musician John Mayer after divorcing so-called 'comedian' Russell Brand in 2012.

She is currently in the studio recording the follow-up to her 2013 album Prism.

Bex

KWWHITE

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

SAUCY Bex White revealed she doesn't spend hours choosing which knickers to wear on a morning – because she goes COMMANDO.

The blonde 29-year-old said she loves to feel the breeze between her legs. And when she's on the beach she ALWAYS sunbathes naked – to avoid tan lines.

Bex, from Crowborough, Sussex, shows us the evidence, and her sun kissed 32B boobs, in these sexy pictures.

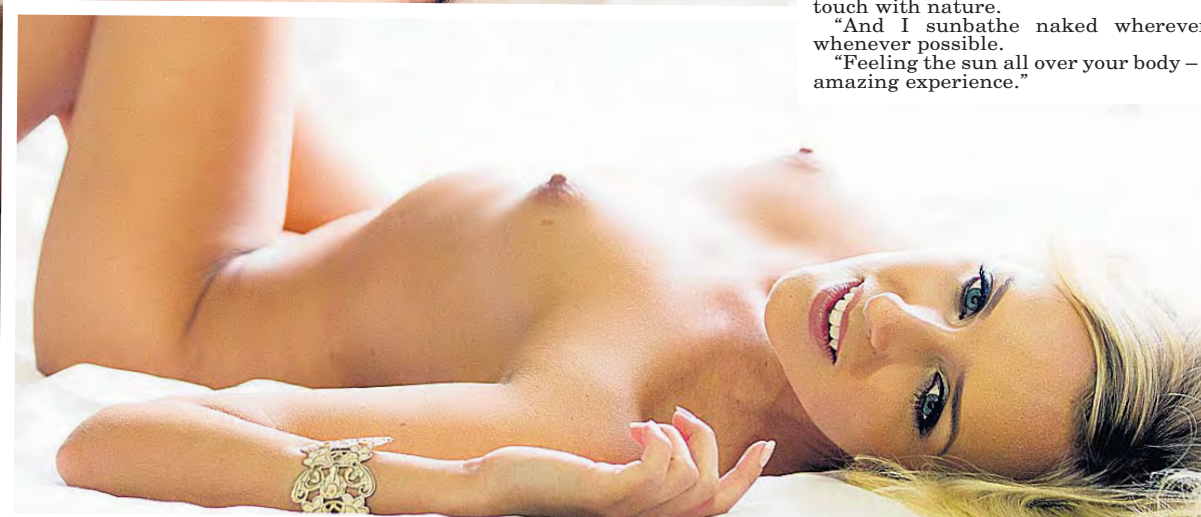

Nature

She said: "I don't really like wearing anything at all down there."

"It's just so much more comfortable without any knickers on. You feel so much more in touch with nature."

"And I sunbathe naked wherever and whenever possible."

"Feeling the sun all over your body – it's an amazing experience."

Come on ladies – name your norks!

Emma Garcia
Age 23, 34C-24-34 from Enfield

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE

joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

MORE than half of women have nicknames for their KNOCKERS, according to our saucy sex poll.

Figures show that 55 per cent of ladies love to personalise their pert pairs, with the most common names being Mary-Kate and Ashley.

The petite twins ranked at the top of the list, coming above Holmes and Watson and Twin Peaks.

The survey also revealed that 60 per cent of men give their love sticks a name, with the majority of guys calling their little man after Snakes On A Plane actor Samuel L Jackson.

A spokesman for sex toy firm Lovehoney, which carried out the poll, said: "Sex is supposed to be fun and giving nicknames to your little chap or jubbies is a great way to lighten the mood.

"Most men named their penises after Samuel L Jackson – because he's been in everything."

Humour

Some of the more surprising genital pseudonyms for blokes' bits were "Troy, Destroyer of Villages", "Rear Admiral Sir Donald Gosling", "The Gobstopper" and, slightly more embarrassingly, "Little Squirt".

The survey of 1,000 people also showed that women will bonk a man who makes them laugh.

Nine out of 10 ladies and gentlemen asked said a sense of humour was a big factor when choosing a lover.

And a quarter of women say they'd sleep with a man who is funny, even if they aren't attracted to his looks.

Glamour model Emma Garcia, 23, from Enfield, admitted: "I have names for my boobs – Ben and Jerry.

"My boyfriend loves to lick ice cream off them!"

CHEEKY Cikita reckons her ultimate fantasy is getting steamy in an outdoor HOT TUB!

And the 23-year-old model said the powerful jets of water make her feel "extra horny".

Czech-born Cikita, who now lives in east London, revealed the combination of relaxing bubbles and the great outdoors really gets her temperatures soaring!

Now she's even planning to buy her own Jacuzzi – and says her neighbours are in for a right eyeful when it's installed at home!

Cikita, who displays her 32G mega-boobs for the first time EVER in Midweek

I like the idea of getting caught – or someone else watching

By CLAUDIA TANNER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Sport, said: "I've had plenty of fun times on holiday when our hotel room has a tub!

"You can't beat having a glass or two of Champagne with a sexy man and just letting one thing lead quite naturally to another..."

"It doesn't matter if it's a lovely, warm evening or in the depths of winter. Even if it's really cold outside, the water is so nice and hot on my naked body!

"The jets are so powerful and the vibrations get my nipples really stiff. So if I'm into a guy, I find it hard to hide the fact!

"I've had sex a couple of times in hot tubs, either on skiing holidays or during a party at a posh house.

"One time, at a friend's birthday party, I got carried away with my boyfriend and I could see that we were in full view of the neighbours!

"I thought I saw the curtains twitch next door, but we were too far gone to stop.

"I guess I'm quite an exhibitionist at heart, because I really like the idea of getting caught – or someone else watching me having sex.

"I've already started saving up for my very own Jacuzzi. I want a nice big one so I can hold sexy hot tub parties with all my friends.

"Who knows where that could lead?!"

Cikita, who said she also loves to dress up in sexy uniforms in the bedroom – like this naughty American cheerleader outfit – also admitted that she enjoys SKINNY DIPPING!

She continued: "It's not just hot tubs that get me horny. I get a real thrill swimming NAKED when I'm on holiday.

"I've done it in the sea, hotel swimming pools, everywhere. It's just the best feeling ever!

"And it really reminds me of good times, when the drinks are flowing and spirits are high."

Red-hot lesbo action with sexy secretary!

Dear Jaymie,

I'M a 41-year-old woman who works in the cut-throat world of business and I have been sleeping with my secretary for two years.

She's only 22, and not the brightest of girls, but she's fantastic in bed.

I know I'm slightly older but it was actually her who seduced me at a works summer do in the first place.

It was being held at this really posh hotel a few miles outside of the city – so I decided to book a room and stay over.

By the end of the night there was only me and her left in the bar and we were both a little tipsy, I have to admit.

She said she was going to book a taxi but when she stood up she wobbled a bit and then fell into my lap, and couldn't get up.

I decided to help her up to my room so she could stay over the night, as for some reason I'd been given a twin.

I thought a strong cup of coffee would have her back on her feet in no time, and she could get a cab later if she wanted to go home.

But after we'd both had our hit of caffeine and a bit of a chat, she seemed to quickly sober up.

Then she walked straight over to me and thrust her tongue into mouth as she grabbed my arse and pulled me hard towards her.

I was completely taken aback but I couldn't believe how horny I felt as she pinned me against the wall, placed her leg between mine and started to rub my vagina with her thigh.

The taste of her mouth and smell of her scent was so intoxicating that I just couldn't say no to her.

I was completely helpless to stop her as she tore open my blouse and pulled down my bra.

It felt wonderful as she licked and sucked my nipples while gently sliding, first one and then two fingers into my moist pussy.

She then threw me on to the bed and lifted my short skirt so she could pull aside my G-string and go to work on my clit.

We spent the rest of the night making love and I would never have believed another woman could give me so much pleasure.

Problem is, after two years of this kind of red-hot sex action she now wants me to leave my hubby and move in with her.

I'm not sure what to do.

KN, Birmingham

Jaymie says...

MOVE in – or get a new secretary.

Letter of the day

Dear Jaymie,

ON my travels around the world I thought I'd seen just about everything.

But the other night in a club I copped off with gorgeous redhead who took me back to her place for some saucy fun and games.

After some serious groping on her couch we slipped into bed and I moved down on her to give her a tonguing.

To my surprise I heard a ticking coming from her glory-hole.

I asked her what it was and she pulled her pussy lips wide open with her fingers to reveal a small WATCH tucked up in there.

She said she used it to turn herself on and the ticking sound sort of vibrated through her. I couldn't believe what I was seeing as she gently squeezed it out.

It was keeping perfect time even though it was coated with her pussy juice.

What the hell do you make of that?

JK, Cheshire

Jaymie says...

WELL, at least she'll never be late coming.

Threesome surprise

Dear Jaymie,

I HAD a threesome with my missus and her best pal the other week.

They'd been on a girls' night out to see a male stripper group and when they got back to our place they were a bit tipsy – but VERY horny!

The pair of them started ripping my clothes off as soon as they came in – but I wasn't going to complain, as my missus sucked me off while her sexy friend hitched up my wife's short skirt and started licking her out.

They then lay me down on the floor and as my wife carefully lowered herself on to my throbbing nine-incher her mate placed herself carefully behind, so she could lick my balls and finger my missus up the arse as she rode me.

I ended up giving the pair a good piping all night and I must have shot my load five times.

Now my wife wants to have another threesome, but this time with another BLOKE.

How do I tell her I'm not interested?

KL, Plymouth

Jaymie says...

PERHAPS you should try it, to see if you like it or not.

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE FROM THE LARGEST WHOLESALE OF ADULT GOODS IN THE UK

Dear Jaymie,

I'VE been a happily married man for the last 15 years – until the firm I work for employed an 18-year-old girl apprentice.

We work quite closely together on admin and out of the blue she asked if I was married.

Bizarrely, I told her, "No".

Then later on that same day, she followed it up with an invite to her flat that she'd been sharing with a mate – who moved out last week.

She didn't fancy an evening at home alone so she suggested we grab a takeaway after work and head off to her place.

As I drove us there her hand slipped between my legs which just sent my dick rigid.

She toyed with it until we got to her place at which point she dragged my pants down and gave me the most amazing wank and blowjob I'd had in years.

It got me up for more and after shagging her, I went home and did the wife, too.

But all the time I was feeling terribly guilty about how I'd treated both of them.

What shall I do?

RT, Kent

Jaymie says...

YOU know you shouldn't have gone anywhere near this girl. If it's made you take stock of your marriage, it'll be no bad thing. Drop the teen.

Dear Jaymie,

MY missus loves going to all the big festivals each summer and now insists on wearing wellington boots in bed.

Don't get me wrong, in all other respects she's a wonderful and attentive lover.

She's happy to give me endless blowjobs as well as occasionally taking it up the wrong 'un.

But those damn rubber boots really get in the way of my full enjoyment of sex.

How can I ask her tactfully to ditch the footwear without hurting her feelings?

MG, North Yorks

Jaymie says...

TELL her you're allergic to rubber and that being near her wellies brings you out in a rash. If she refuses to take them off, beat her at her own game – and throw a load of mud at her!

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

NATALIE CAMM

NAUGHTY Natalie Camm is the choice of betting shop worker Paul Martin.

The 43-year-old, from Bournemouth, enjoyed her topless photoshoot earlier this year.

But he's "gutted" that Natalie, 22, from Kilburn, hasn't been in the paper since.

Paul wrote: "I really like girls with nipple piercings. I think they're proper sexy – and you can tell the girls are a bit naughty!"

"I've been looking forward to seeing more photos of her lovely 30F boobs, but I've been left a bit disappointed."

"So would you mind printing a cheeky photo for me? It's been ages – and there's plenty of Natalie's fans out there!"

This one's for you, Paul!

AALIYAH JOHNSON

BOLTON accountant Neil Gregory claims that Aaliyah Johnson, 25, deserves a spot in this week's Show Me The Honey.

Aaliyah, 32DD, from Wealdstone, previously wrote a X-rated SEX DIARY for the Sport.

And Neil, 56, reckons her saucy confessions were the highlight of his week!

Neil told us: "My fave thing about reading the Sport was Aaliyah's raunchy sex column."

"There were always hot and very well written. I reckon she could be the next E.L. James!"

VANESSA WALKER

SUNDAY League footballer Barry Stacey likes ogling Vanessa Walker's whopping 32F boobs in the dressing room before a big match.

And he reckons Vanessa, 26, from Blackpool, is a "good look charm" for his local team!

The 26-year-old defender, from Grimsby, said: "I've always thought she was gorgeous – such a pretty girl."

"I keep a picture of her in my locker and it really gets me pumped up before a match."

"Hopefully, if I get to the Premier League one day I'll be able to chat her up! "Glamour models love footballers – and she wouldn't be able to resist me!"

SMARTPHONE PORN GETS BRIT BABES IN MOOD FOR BONKING!

A QUARTER of all porn is watched by horny women on the BUS – according to a new sex poll.

The survey showed that randy ladies made up to 24 per cent of the 78 BILLION hits on top grot site Pornhub.

And the figures reveal they like to strum their keyboard on a Monday – using smartphones.

The explosion of fanny flickers is believed to have been caused by the global success of Fifty Shades of Grey and celebrity sex tapes.

Archives

A spokesman for Pornhub said: "They usually watch for just under 10 minutes."

"One of the factors behind the rise is said to be the popularity of smartphones, with women preferring to use their mobile devices to access the material."

Figures from the adult website's data archives show that 60% of all visitors visited using their mobiles, and just 7% on a tablet and 33% on a more traditional computer.

And more than half of the traffic came from men and women under the age of 35.

While the younger sex fans prefer to watch at night, older viewers like to get their kicks earlier in the evening – and watch for LONGER.

Big bummed reality TV star Kim Kardashian is also the most searched-for name – with 93 million hits for her sex tape which was leaked online in 2007.

The video showing Kim gobbling off former lover and rap singer Ray J shot her and her family to international fame.

The Pornhub findings also show us Brits are the biggest wankers in Europe – as there are more hits from UK visitors than any of our foreign neighbours.

Helen Marshall says...

If I can't sleep at night and my man is snoring away, I love to turn over and have a little play with my tablet.

And then hopefully he wakes up and we can have a bit of a midnight session.

Rita Clarkson says...

WATCHING porn with my fella gets us both in the mood for some action between the sheets.

A post porn romp is always fun, too.

LUCY

HATS off to busty Lucy Becker – who loves to dress as a COWGIRL in the bedroom.

The 27-year-old stunna said donning her kinky Stetson and leather boots while riding her man REALLY turns her on.

Lucy, who calls herself “Lasso Luce”, took some time out from her wild west romping to show us her 30F saddlebags in these saucy snaps.

The brunette, from Barnet, North London, said: “I have this amazing cowgirl outfit which is my favourite and by far the kinkiest. It’s got leather boots and a fab Stetson to match!

“It always works wonders for the sex. I find it a total turn-on – and so does my man.”

She added: “When it comes to sex there’s only one position in my opinion, and that’s the reverse cowgirl.

“My guy really enjoys getting a cracking view of my peachy bottom as it rides up and down his rock-hard shaft.”

OUR SPORTS BETTING GURU WILL PUT YOU ON A WINNER!

KIRBY TO GET A GRIP

PILOT: Kirby

A BUSY day's racing up and down England and over in Ireland too.

With little other sport to splash our dosh on, we will concentrate on the neddies.

Hand on heart, it isn't the finest quality racing today so our mission is to win quite big from relatively small stakes.

A nice each-way Yankee with some tasty prices involved.

We start at Lingfield where AL'S MEMORY (3.50) has dropped to close to his last winning mark despite figuring near the top of the handicap today.

Stronger

He scored over course and distance in January off a mark of 64 and a series of creditable, if ultimately unsuccessful runs, have made it slow progress for him to fall back to a competitive mark.

He has raced eight times since then and been placed in five of them so his consistency is beyond question.

But he can race off 67 today in a race no stronger than the

Adam can help us land Yankee win one he won at the turn of the year.

David Evans, the trainer, does well with his runners in Surrey and nobody rides the track better than today's pilot Adam Kirby.

Up the A1 to Catterick next and Mick Easterby's IGGY (4.30).

It's a rare day indeed when wily old Mick's cash remains in the bookies' satchels but Iggy owes him a few bob from his last run.

It came last Thursday at Doncaster where he was backed off the boards only to finish a three-quarters-of-a-length runner-up.

But there were excuses for that effort.

He made his run a furlong out but has hampered every step of the way.

He had to be switched keenly to the left and kept on well but it was all too late.

Compensation, and Mick's money awaits for his supporters.

SAINT THOMAS (7.55 Leicester) has less than heavenly form figures but a similar case can be made for him as for Al's Memory earlier in the day.

Hedoesn't have as impressive a place record but while mostly down the field he hasn't been beaten that far in any of his runs.

Significantly, he hasn't been battered about when it became obvious his chance was gone.

Even more significantly, he is reunited with Franny Norton for the first time since he partnered him to victory at Carlisle last September.

Saint Thomas can race off only 3lb higher and John Mackie's runner could prove good value.

It isn't that far round the M25 from Lingfield to Sandown but it's telling that Kirby delays his trip home to Lambourn for the Esher track's final race (8.50).

BRAZEN SPIRIT is likely to be the shortest price of our quartet having won two of his last three for Kirby's major supporter, the in-form Clive Cox.

The grey gelding had to be driven out to win at Bath at the start of this month but has only been raised 2lb which seems fair.

He's only 4lb higher than when winning much more convincingly at Kempton last November and the flop at Windsor, he was fourth of six, can be explained by the fact he needed his comeback run.

It's that time of year when three-year-olds come into their own against the older horses and this Spirit can be trusted to get the drinks in.

BET: 1pt each-way Yankee Al's Memory, Iggy, Saint Thomas, Brazen Spirit.

Jack can still be nimble!

TOMORROW night it's the semi-finals of the Coral Sussex Cup at Hove live on RPTV Sky channel 212.

I tipped up Jet Stream Jack at 14/1 and he set tongues wagging with a sublime performance in the heats. 'More of the same please Jack,' is my wish but I don't foresee any reason why he won't.

I think this star of Kevin Hutton's already got one paw on the Cup and the £10,000 to-the-winner cheque.

I decided to catch up with Kevin Hutton and get you the lowdown on his star.

KEVIN HUTTON ON JET STREAM JACK

'Jet Stream Jack was guilty of being inconsistent in the past but tough wood he seems to be the model of consistency these days.

He trapped out brilliantly and once he cut the bend it was game over in the heats. If he can keep running like this is going to be an exciting year with him. He's very well and I'm hoping he can qualify for next week's final'.

SUSSEX CUP BETTING

7/2 Jet Stream Jack, 11/2 Diego Flight, 8/1 Ballymac Mossjoe, Burgess Oscar, 12/1 Face The Blade, Jet Stream Smurf, 14/1 King Dec, 20/1 Ballymac Manix, Southfield Blue, Vatican Gurkha, 25/1 bar.

SEMI-FINAL VERDICTS HOVE THURSDAY

20.18 - Derby semi-finalist Diego Flight will be all the rage here but I'm taking him on here. On the draw I think T4 My Real Mutley can cause a shock and book his place in to next final for the talented Maria Collins.

20.34 - Kevin Hutton keeps telling me to watch out for T5 Face The Blade. He thinks he's a real star in waiting and he is perhaps worth taking a chance on here. He finished third in the heats but was only beaten a neck, that was his first look at the track so improvement is likely.

20.50 - T4 Jet Stream Jack is my ante-post tip and he's still my boy. I'm not sure I'd be rushing out jumping on at 7/2 but we don't need to we are on at 14/1. I will be screaming him on to victory here.

PATENT PENDING ON EUROPEAN MATCHES

BRITISH teams are pressed into European action again this week with Celtic, Aberdeen and West Ham looking likely to progress.

Celtic get the ball running tonight with a trip to Stjarnan in Iceland.

Manager Ronny Deila's side have a 2-0 lead to protect against Stjarnan and, should they brush the minnows aside, they will face a trip to either Azerbaijan or Montenegro in the next round.

It's impossible to see any other outcome.

Tomorrow Aberdeen host HNK Rijeka in a Europa League qualifier and hold a comfortable 3-0 lead from their first-leg trip to Croatia.

And in the same competition, West Ham hold the slenderest of leads having only bettered FC Birkirkara 1-0 at Upton Park.

They attracted the wrath of Hammers fans who booed when the expected bloodbath failed to materialise against a highly organised Maltese side.

LEAD: Deila

They can probably consider themselves in for more of the same stubborn resistance tomorrow night.

For a bit of fun to minimal stakes and purely for interest only, the Basher suggests an exact replication of the first leg scores in a patent.

Another 2-0 Celtic win is 5/1 generally although you can get 11/2 at Paddy Power.

Aberdeen to triumph 3-0 again is a whopping 40/1 at BetVictor, Ladbrokes and Coral.

And the Hammers are a best-priced 7/1 at betway to edge matters 1-0 again althou 6/1 is more generally available.

BET: 1pt correct score patent.

ASHES: BALLANCE PAYS PRICE FOR POOR FORMBAIR WE GO FOR JONNY!*Bell goes up to three for Edgbaston clash

By NED TRUEMAN

ENGLAND have ditched Gary Ballance and brought in Jonny Bairstow for the third Ashes Test at Edgbaston.

The selectors have swapped one Yorkshireman for another and the new boy has been in blistering form in the county championship. But Bairstow will want to do a lot better than his last efforts in an England shirt where he really struggled on the 2013/14 Ashes tour down under.

Ballance has been in shocking form at number three and looks like a man who needs to drop out of the firing line.

It means Ian Bell will finally move up a place, with Joe Root now number four and Bairstow slotting in at five.

The rest of the 13-man squad is unchanged despite the 405-run drubbing at Lord's inside four days last week.

Cracking

Selector James Whitaker said: "For the third Test, Ian Bell will move up the order to bat at three — followed by Joe Root, with Jonny Bairstow coming in at five. "Jonny has worked extremely hard at his game, and his record for Yorkshire speaks for itself. He fully deserves this opportunity."

Yorkshire coach Jason Gillespie — an Aussie himself — thinks it's a cracking move by England.

He said: "Jonny is in a very special place right now."

"His average in the championship this summer has just tipped past 100 with that innings and, given the opportunity, I know he would take it with both hands."

"It is important that those people who don't watch much county cricket don't pipe up with opinions based on his past experience in Test cricket because we're talking about a different beast right now."

Bairstow needs to improve on

DROPPED: Ballance

his general Test form as he's averaging just under 27 from 14 appearances so far.

But Gillespie says he's got back to basics and is doing his own thing in the middle.

He said: "We made a pact, the Yorkshire coaches — myself included — agreed we would not speak to him about his method and instead judge him solely on his returns."

"No longer would he have support staff stopping him every second ball in the nets, telling him to change his grip, stance, backlift or alignment."

"Instead, the only advice would be when he sought it and based solely on his game plan for any given day."

"We still discuss conditions and what his approach for an innings will be, but in the 18 months that have followed his technique has not been brought up."

"Ultimately we have backed Jonny to take responsibility for his own game and the results are there to see."

CHANCE: BairstowOUT: WilkinSaints skipper Wilkin crocked

RUGBY LEAGUE

ST HELENS skipper Jon Wilkin faces three weeks on the sidelines after surgery on a broken thumb.

It means he will miss their crucial Challenge Cup semi-final with Leeds next week.

The Saints haven't been to Wembley for seven years and losing their captain is a major blow.

He picked up the injury during the 20-14 win at Warrington last week.

Coach Kieron Cunningham is putting a brave face on it.

He said: "We'll miss Jon of course."

"He is a champion of a guy and an ultimate leader for the squad."

"He doesn't leave it in the dressing room, he does his talking on the field and runs his blood to water."

"I feel for him as he deserves to play in big games. He will bounce back and be back for us some time in the Super 8s."

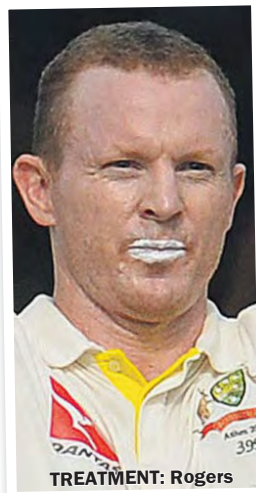

The injury couldn't have come at a worse time as the season hits "squeaky bum time".

They face Hull KR on Friday sitting a point behind leaders Leeds before the competition splits for the Super 8s which have replaced the old play-offs.

Cunningham added: "I think consistency is important in rugby league and you need that so you can bounce on."

"I'm not going to tinker but there may be a couple of players rested."

St Helens last won the challenge cup when beating Hull in 2008.

TREATMENT: RogersEAR WE GO FOR ROGERS

By MIKE MURRAY

WHILE England tweak their batting line-up, the Aussies have had a boost about opener Chris Rogers.

He was forced off the field at Lord's with dizziness during their crushing second Test victory.

Doctors have examined the 37-year-old and diagnosed an ear problem that affected his balance.

And the veteran can now be treated and should be fit to take the field for the third Test at Edgbaston next week.

Team doctor Peter Brukner said: "Chris' condition is certainly improving. He has had scans and seen a specialist since yesterday to help determine the cause of his dizziness."

"The initial scans have cleared him of any serious damage and we await the results of further tests that have been carried out."

It's not the first time that Rogers has had problems and he was on the sidelines with concussion for the West Indies tour last month which could have spelled the end of his career.

He was clonked on the head before leaving the field at Lord's and the two things are now being linked by the medics.

Rogers has decided to hang up his international boots at the end of this series.

Brukner added: "It appears the most likely diagnosis is a delayed ear problem related to being struck on day two of the Test match."

"We are confident that this is something we can manage in the lead up to the third Test at Edgbaston."

"As a precaution he'll be reviewed by the specialist in London again on Wednesday morning before rejoining the touring party."

"Chris was not scheduled to play in the tour match against Derbyshire, so he has time to continue resting ahead of the Test match."

The Aussies are still waiting on Brad Haddin who missed Lord's for personal reasons.

Coach Darren Lehmann said: "Selection's always difficult and we'll have to sit down and work out which direction we're taking."

"We have to get Brad back playing cricket before we cross that bridge."

"It's just trying to work out what happens moving forward, and we hope he'll be available."

IT ALL POINTS TO 5/1 MONTY

THE First Round of the BetVictor World Matchplay saw magnificent darts with Peter Wright's demolition of Kim Huybrechts the pick of the performances.

Phil Taylor cannot be opposed against Andy Hamilton in a battle of the Potteries and The Power certainly won't be taking the Hammer lightly.

Hamilton's win over a lack-lustre Raymond van Barneveld on Monday was no shock to Taylor who was convinced the Hammer was back to his best.

The pick of tonight's ties sees Dave Chisnall take on World Junior Champion Keegan Brown who looked at ease on the Winter Garden stage when demolishing Robert Thornton earlier in the week.

Chisnall will have to improve his doubles if he is to keep Brown

Col the one to be on in Open at bay and the latter is the recommendation on the handicap getting 3.5 legs start at 10/11 with BetVictor.

Note all 2nd Round ties are best of 25 legs; Chisnall is 3/10 favourite with Brown 5/2 to make it through to the last eight.

★ Celtic take a two goal lead to Iceland this evening and they will have to overcome Stjarnan's notorious plastic pitch where Motherwell were dumped out of the Europa League last season.

The Hoops take a two goal lead into the 2nd leg and are 4/9 at BetVictor to win on the synthetic surface with the hosts 7/1 and a draw on offer at 33/10.

Champions' League Group stage regulars Bate Borisov take a 2-1 lead to Oriel Park Dundalk and the hosts will be confident of an upset.

I'm not so sure and expect Bate's European experience to prevail.

The Irish Champions are 21/10 at BetVictor with the side from Belarus 11/8 and the draw 23/10.

★ Sunningdale will play host to the 2015 British Open this weekend and a number of players in action at St Andrews for the Open but the vote goes to someone who didn't qualify for St An-draws Colin Montgomerie who is the 5/1 favourite at BetVictor.

Monty missed out by one shot from qualifying for the Open when he suggested he putted like an idiot; if his flat stick gets hot this weekend I would be disappointed if he doesn't go very close.

Bernard Langer won the Seniors Event twelve months ago and he and fellow Ryder Cup player Miguel Angel Jimenez are the 6/1 second favourites.

Langer is looking for a hat-trick of titles having also won in 2010 whilst the great Tom Watson (33/1) is looking for a fourth Seniors Open title.

LET'S GET STARTED:
Mertesacker

Per wants his Guns to fire first

By MIKE MURRAY

ARSENAL centre-back Per Mertesacker says there must be no repeat of last year's slow start when this season kicks off next month.

The German saw his side come with a late run to push Chelsea closest in the title race.

But they left themselves with too big a gap to bridge with a slow start to the campaign.

They won just two of their first eight league games and if that happens again, Arsenal can forget landing a long overdue title win.

Mertesacker said: "We need to be at our best. We have shown in the cup that we can be consistent for six games.

"We want to extend that and show that we are real title contenders from the start, not only in the second half of the season.

"We want to be ready right from the start and not getting as many injuries as last season would be lovely and good for us.

"The belief is still there. We always had a certain belief in ourselves and to win trophies back to back is something special but let's add that little extra to be a competitor for the whole season."

Linked

The German has been impressed with Arsene Wenger's recent deals and he thinks the capture of Petr Cech from Chelsea gives them a strong chance.

He said: "We have a good structure and a good base. We will try to build on that.

"We have a good squad, we won't lose key players, so that's good consistency.

"The squad will be in a good mood and in good fitness. We have to be because there are plenty of competitors for the title."

There could be more new faces at the Emirates by the time Cech faces his old club Chelsea in the Community Shield on August 2.

The biggest name being linked with the Gunners is Karim Benzema.

The Real Madrid man would slot right in to the Arsenal set up and would be a good man to fill the vacant number nine shirt.

An opening bid in the region of £30million has been turned down and it's thought even an offer of £50m wouldn't be enough to get the Spanish giants to sell the Frenchman.

HERE: Mitrovic

Mit looks a bit of alright for the Toon

NEWCASTLE have officially unveiled their second signing of the summer in Serbia international Aleksandar Mitrovic.

The Magpies have bagged the 20-year-old striker on a five-year deal from Anderlecht.

At £12.5million, he becomes United's fourth biggest transfer ever.

Mitrovic joins Georginio Wijnaldum as Steve McClaren bolsters his squad.

The striker won't join up with his team-mates while they're away in the US, but will meet them on their return to Tyneside.

Manager McClaren said the Mitrovic capture was a "statement of intent".

They have now spent £27m on two quality players and the boss is delighted.

He said: "It's been a long process, a lot of opposition for his signature and we're delighted he's made this step to us. He's a tremendous addition and again, a statement of intent that the club want to go forward."

Adapted

"I think he'll fit right in. Players like that tend to. He has to adapt but he's adapted everywhere he's been."

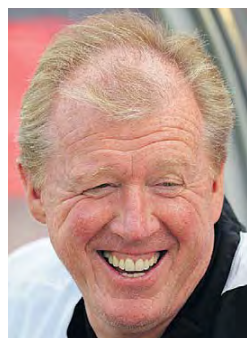

"He's only very young, he made his debut in Serbia and moved to Anderlecht so he's already made one move and adapted to a different league so he's got experience of that at a young age."

"Now he's got to do it again, adapt to our training and the Premier League, but he's a good acquisition for the squad."

The Magpies were quite goal shy last term and McClaren (below) said the Serbian was brought in to solve that.

"If he brings 27 goals we'd be delighted, he'd not need to do anything else!" he added.

Mitrovic might get assistance from QPR's Charlie Allen, Newcastle's next target.

BRIDGE BOUND? John Stones is sought by Mourinho (above)

Roll in Stones!

JOHN CAN'T GET NO SATISFACTION AT EVERTON

HE'S not going to do a Raheem Sterling – but John Stones is DESPERATE to swap Everton for Chelsea.

The Toffees have turned down Jose Mourinho's opening bid of £20million for the 21-year-old who he sees as the heir to John Terry.

The champions will go up to £32m to get their man, making him the most expensive defender in Premier League history.

And in a new twist, Jose is trying to sweeten the deal by offering Victor Moses on top of the cash. It's hard to believe that he's still on Chelsea's books after loan spells at Liverpool and Stoke.

By JOHN ANTHONY

The prospect of the former Red lining up for them won't do a lot to ease the anger of Everton fans.

And why would a misfiring forward make up for losing a rising star defender?

And while boss Roberto Martinez is fuming at Chelsea's cheek, Stones himself would like to get the deal done.

It seems that the lure of Champions League football would be too much and outweigh any worries that he would spend a season largely on the sidelines watching Terry and Tim Cahill playing every week.

England manager Roy Hodgson could see him in tandem with fellow Lion Cahill and he's known to like keeping club partnerships in tact at international level.

Martinez has made no secret of his fury at Chelsea's pursuit of a player they have been told is not for sale time and time again.

He raged: "First of all, we pride ourselves in playing a certain way and educating our young players in a manner that means they are always going to get attention from elsewhere. "That is a compliment, a footballing compliment."

Strangely

"The other side is the disappointment in seeing a club making the bid for Stones so open, I don't think that is the way we do it at Everton."

"We don't speak about a player when he is registered at another club and there is no issue from our point of view – John Stones is an Everton player full stop."

Despite being told many times, Mourinho responded rather strangely, saying: "If one day Roberto Martinez or the chairman says 'he's not for sale, we don't accept any bid'. Game over."

Jose obviously doesn't read the papers as Everton have done nothing but say Stones won't be leaving.

The Toffees have already lost Sylvain Distin so if their England international departed they would have a massive hole next to Phil Jagielka in the heart of their defence.

SLAVEN-TH HEAVEN FOR BILIC

WEST HAM will take their summer shopping spree to SEVEN players with the signing of midfielder Manuel Lanzini on a season's loan.

The deal is expected to be finalised by tomorrow night when the Hammers are in Europa League action.

The Argentine began his career with River Plate and spent a season on loan at Brazilian side Fluminense before moving to Al Jazira in the UAE.

The attacking midfielder is known as The Jewel.

He has four caps for Argentina at Under-20 level, but holds an Italian passport. The 22-year-old will further bolster a Hammers midfield already boosted by the arrivals of Pedro Obiang from Sampdoria and Dimitri Payet from Marseille over the summer.

By ANDY MILLOM

Slaven Bilic's priority now is to sign a striker and he is also looking for a winger after Stewart Downing who has been sold back to his former club Middlesbrough in a surprise deal.

Everton's Kevin Mirallas is the man in the frame.

He is also a target for Tottenham, but Bilic (left) is keen to get a deal done quickly ahead of his London rivals, although he has seen a £6million bid turned down already.

The 27-year-old is thought to be keen on a move to Upton Park and the Toffees are holding out for a fee closer to £8m.

That would represent profitable business for the Merseysiders.

Impressive

He has one year left on his contract after signing from Olympiacos for around £6m in 2012. He could leave on a free in 12 months.

In 88 Premier League appearances since moving to England, the frontman has an impressive goalscoring record, netting 21 times.

He has 49 caps for Belgium which brought nine international goals.

Spurs have a strong Belgian contingent.

Mirallas could have hooked up with countrymen Jan Vertonghen, Moussa Dembele, Nacer Chadli and the new boy Toby Alderweireld at White Hart Lane. But Bilic and the Hammers appear to have won the race.

Mauricio Pochettino will now turn his attentions to another Everton player James McCarthy from Everton and is preparing a bid for the Irishman.

READY: Kane

Kane is Spurred on for opener

TOTTENHAM striker Harry Kane has vowed to be fighting fit for the start of the new season.

Spurs face an open day trip to play Man United.

Kane returned to pre-season training later than his colleagues, but the 21-year-old assured fans that he will be raring to go for the August 8 kick-off.

He started last season as Mauricio Pochettino's third-choice striker but was a revelation, scoring 31 goals and a senior cap for Roy Hodgson's Three Lions in March.

Kane was the top scoring Englishman in the Premier League and even though he had moved up to senior international level, he went on to feature for Gareth Southgate's Under-21 side this summer.

Physically

The Young Lions were dumped out at the group stages of their European Championship, as Kane's incredible season prompted fears of burn out, having played for both club and country since November 2014.

But Kane is adamant that he will be in peak condition for the opening day of the season.

He said: "I don't think I'll miss the start of the season, there's more than enough time to be ready."

"Even though I have been away, it's not always physically a problem as sometimes you need to get away mentally as well."

"I still keep myself fit and in shape, it isn't like I just let myself go, so I'll be ready for the start of the season for sure."

Spurs are hoping to hand Kane a new strike partner and are believed to be lining up a bid for Manchester United's Javier Hernandez.

STRIKER'S MENTOR GIVES MOVE THUMBS UP

SWELL BENT

ANFIELD OF DREAM: Benteke is set to sign for Liverpool

Lambo: Chris can be big hit at Kop

By ANDY MILLOM

CHRISTIAN BENTEKE was last night closing in on his dream £32.5million move to Liverpool.

He was competing the final stages of his medical which will seal the switch from Aston Villa.

Benteke had also been linked with Manchester United and the Anfield deal has been long drawn out.

But he was going through the final formalities last night and will report to the Melwood training ground today.

His old Aston Villa boss Paul Lambert thinks Benteke will be a "terrific signing" for Liverpool.

Lambert signed the Belgian international striker to England for £5.5m from Genk in 2012.

That proved to be a shrewd move for Villa as Benteke rapidly went on to be a top-flight striker.

Lambert, sacked by Villa in February, said: "I think Christian is going to do great."

"He phoned me yesterday and I had a good chat with him."

"I am delighted for him, he has got a move to a really big, big club."

"I hear reports that he can only score from cross balls. Well, Christian Benteke will score for Liverpool."

"The chances they create, he will score and he is very good with his feet."

"I knew that anyway from signing him and I think he will be a terrific asset."

Some have voiced concerns Benteke will struggle to fit in well with Liverpool's style of play but Lambert begs to differ.

He added: "He will score all types of goals. If you look at the way he plays, especially from his first year at Aston Villa, where he was a phenomenon."

"He was third behind Cristiano Ronaldo and Lionel Messi in goal-scoring ratio. I think he is one of the best No.9s I have seen in a long time."

Lambert phoned Benteke to wish him luck and offer advice. He revealed: "I just said to go and enjoy it."

"I said that he will love the club and the supporters and I think he will get loads of chances."

Liverpool legend Steve McMahon thinks Benteke will feel much more pressure in a red shirt than he did at Villa.

He said: "He has got to get 20 league goals, especially with Liverpool's main striker Daniel Sturridge out until at least September."

"It's no use getting lots of goals in other competitions and only eight or 10 in the league."

"He must be a consistent scorer in the Premier League."

Villa lost another key man when Fabian Delph chose the Etihad and Manchester City having initially pledged to stay at Villa.

Delph was slated for the U-turn but Lambert (above) said: "Fabian could have left for nothing at the end of the season, but he signed a new contract in January and got them £8m."

"I think he thought, 'wait a minute, I have got an opportunity to play Champions League'."

"You owe it to yourself to try and play at that level."

"But I think he has done great by Aston Villa."

Ranieri: I Tink they're all at it

CLAUDIO RANIERI says he rotates his team LESS than most current Premier League managers.

He was branded "The Tinkerman" during his time in charge of Chelsea, but it appears that he was just ahead of his time.

The 63-year-old (right) has just taken over at Leicester. He said: "I think everyone now rotates. The Tinkerman was one, now there are a lot of Tinkermen."

And he says he's prepared to give youth a chance as he bids to keep the Foxes in the Premier League.

He added: "A lot of young players made their debut with me — Zola in Naples, John Terry at Chelsea. I'll look around the academy."

"If there is somebody, I pick him and play him. I have no problem. I had a couple of centre-backs, Desailly and Leboeuf, and when I watched John Terry in the second team I picked up on him and I put him in the squad. If a player is good, he plays."

OSCAR WANTS TO WIN AWARD

By PETE BAILEY

CHELSEA's Brazil international Oscar has told team-mate Eden Hazard: "Prepare to hand over that Player Of The Year award."

The 23-year-old believes he is ready to have his best season for Chelsea and can win the coveted gong.

And he has won support from his manager Jose Mourinho who has backed him to have as good a campaign as Hazard did last term.

Hazard won both the PFA and football writers' award and Oscar is determined to emulate his team-mate.

He revealed: "It is an ambition of mine. I want to do it. I think I have the quality, I am strong in the mind and good with my feet."

"If I play my best, I will try to win the Player of the Year. The manager wants me to play like Eden did and at the top level all the season."

Performance

"I am a different player to Eden. He has his qualities, I have mine. I'll try to have my best-ever season."

Oscar also confirmed he is staying at Chelsea despite interest tempting him with a move back to Italy from Juventus.

He added: "I have been at Chelsea for three years, but I still have a lot more to offer."

Oscar has struggled to maintain the high standards of performance he has set for himself throughout an entire campaign since he joined from Inter Milan for £25million in 2012.

Oscar blames it on not having a summer break over the past five years, but a thigh injury picked in April meant he had to miss the Copa America last month and has finally had a good rest.

He said: "Now that I have had a full summer off, I am hopeful I can sustain my form."

HUNGRY: Oscar

Sterling is right on the money

RAHEEM STERLING took just three minutes to launch his Manchester City career with a goal in the Blues friendly against Roma.

He was roundly booed when he took a tumble in the opening minute in Melbourne ... well, Liverpool does have a large Australian fan base, but City's eventual hero belonged at the other end.

Joe Hart made two excellent saves and blasted home his own superb spot-kick as City won 5-4 on penalties. A late Roma equaliser had left the game tied at 2-2.

Sterling, who joined City for £49million from Liverpool, made a flying start and was impressive in a first-half cameo.

He ran through on goal before finishing neatly as City took an early 1-0 lead at the MCG.

Sterling started on the attacking left side of a 4-3-3 formation that included David Silva and teenage forward Kelechi Iheanacho.

Theatrical

And the front-line gelled perfectly when Iheanacho slipped the ball into space, Sterling beat the offside trap and coolly found the net from just inside the penalty area.

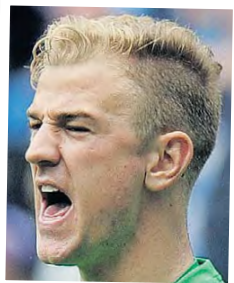

Moments later he appeared to be tripped inside the box, but the referee didn't see it that way, probably influenced by the theatrical manner of Sterling falling to earth.

City dominated early but they were stunned by the way Roma drew level on 10 minutes.

Keeper Willy Caballero was given absolutely no chance as, from 25 yards, Miralem Pjanic fired a rocket into the top corner.

Sterling continued to link up well with Silva and

By ANDY MILLOM

Iheanacho giving City an exciting new front line.

Sterling was one of nine Blues stars withdrawn at the break with Roma doing likewise making room for ex-Chelsea star Ashley Cole.

City went ahead in the 56th minute. A high ball baffled the Roma defence, Iheanacho took a touch and smashed it past home.

It was a super finish from the young Nigerian who looks a fine prospect.

Yaya Toure then brought down Dumbia to give Roma a free-kick on the edge of the box.

And City were made to pay with Adem Ljajic curling home a free-kick for the equaliser.

It beat Hart (above), but it was his heroics that give City a winning start in this International Champions Cup friendly tournament.

VAN GAAL SAYS 'MYSTERY SIGNING'

LOUIS ON THE ATTACK

Boss says big-name striker is heading to Old Trafford

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

MANCHESTER UNITED boss Louis Van Gaal set the football rumour mill spinning by confirming he DOES want to sign a striker before the transfer window closes.

The former Barcelona manager hinted there could be a "surprise" signing late this summer.

Speaking at a press conference ahead of the second tour game against San Jose Earthquakes, in the early hours of this morning, the Dutchman refused to confirm exactly which finisher is in his sights.

But he revealed he is looking to add another forward to his squad.

He needs more up front following the departures of Robin van Persie and Radamel Falcao.

Van Gaal said: "He's in the process.

"It's not the striker that the media has written about. You have to wait and see. The transfer period is open until August 31. You have to wait."

Van Gaal also refused to comment on reports linking with United with Real Madrid defender Sergio Ramos.

He added: "I cannot talk about this. It's a process.

Maybe Mr Ramos is in the process, you never know."

When asked whether United were close to signing the striker in question, the 63-year-old said: "No. It is not imminent. We are busy concentrating on our pre-season tour."

Favoured

United have been linked with a number of forwards recently, including Paris St Germain's Edinson Cavani, Tottenham's Harry Kane and Robert Lewandowski from Bayern Munich.

A German newspaper claimed United had bid £70million for Lewandowski's team-mate Thomas Muller on Monday, but sources at Old Trafford denied any offer had been tabled.

Van Gaal seemed to enjoy toying with the media who peppered him with questions on the eve of the game at the Avaya Stadium in San Jose.

He confirmed whoever Mr X turns out to be he will be supporting his main striker Wayne Rooney.

The skipper will lead the line for United - his favoured position - and has promised to bag 20 goals for the Red Devils in 2015-16.

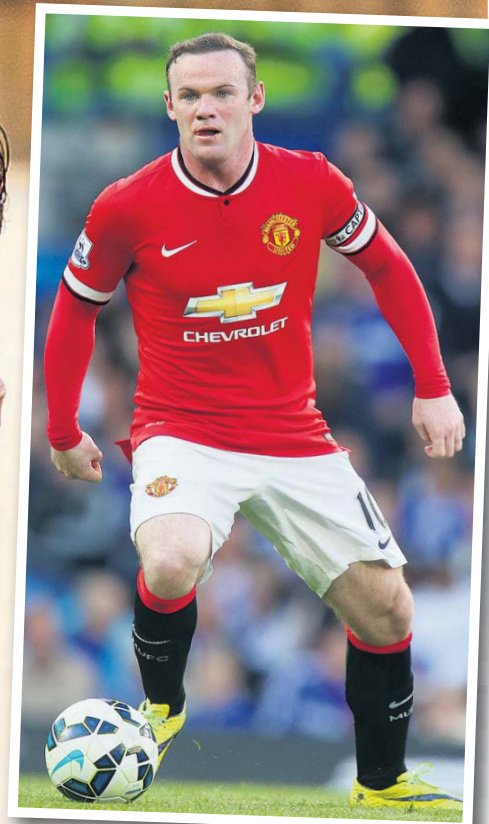

United's tour has not been the rip-roaring success they had hoped for.

SURPLUS: Lambert

Rickie to pack his Baggies

WEST BROM and Norwich are locked in a battle for Liverpool striker Rickie Lambert.

The Baggies appear to be in pole position with talks set to take place between all parties this week.

Lambert was used sparingly by boss Brendan Rodgers last season and scored just two league goals, after completing a dream move from Southampton a year ago.

Albion will offer £3million for the frontman and City are expected to match that valuation.

It will be a shame for the 33-year-old, who joined the club he loved as a boy, but was mainly used as a late sub.

And he has now fallen even further down the pecking order with the signings of Danny Ings and Divock Origi. And with Benteke also expected to complete a move to Anfield, Rodgers will lose Lambert, Fabio Borini and Mario Balotelli.

Smarten

West Brom's transfer interest will intensify now manager Tony Pulis has returned from the US following a three-game tour.

Pulis is hunting a new striker to help Saido Berahino, with question marks remaining over record signing Brown Ideye's future following a disappointing first season.

Pulis has Queens Park Rangers' Matt Phillips and Arsenal's Serge Gnabry on his radar. Michail Antonio remains a target despite West Brom having a £5m bid rejected by Nottingham Forest last week.

The Baggies' gaffer has warned James McClean he must smarten his image after his snub of the English flag last week. McClean turned his back on the cross of St George during the national anthem in the US.

The winger hails from a republican background in Northern Ireland and has also refused to wear a Remembrance Day poppy.

Pulis said: "Obviously there has been a stigma around him and he doesn't need that again. We've nipped it in the bud."

It was selected at short notice after Van Gaal decided he did not want to play in a bigger stadium in Berkeley because of travel issues.

Although United may sign another striker, Van Gaal will place high demands on his captain.

"I expect from him the same as I expected from Van Persie or Falcao. The principles are still the same," Van Gaal said. This time last year the Reds' boss was weighing up whether to appoint Rooney or Van Persie as captain.

He clearly thinks he made the right choice.

"I could not expect more,"

Van Gaal said when asked about Rooney's first year as captain.

"I think he's a great captain. Better than I had expected. He is fully accepted by everyone.

"I can choose, but the players have to accept the captain. The first captain is Wayne Rooney."

Van Gaal said he had no fears about Rooney getting injured in Duncan Ferguson's testimonial, which takes place six days before the season-opener against Tottenham and will see him back wearing an Everton shirt.

"He can also fall off the stairs. That is my answer," Van Gaal said.

Centre-back Chris Smalling said he is ready to fight for his place at Old Trafford even if they land Sergio Ramos.

Real have knocked back a bid of more than £28m for the 29-year-old Spanish defender, whose arrival would put pressure on Smalling.

But remaining undaunted he said: "There is always going to be competition. When I signed there were five centre-backs already here who I had to work hard to get past.

"I'm always going to be compared to the best because United can always get the best. I'm up for the challenge.

"I hope that my performances can keep me in the team, but I'll still be working hard every day."

Petr boasts team spirit much better at Arsenal

KISS OFF: Cech says
there is a better spirit at the Emirates

By MIKE MURRAY

ARSENAL's new goalie Petr Cech had a dig at Jose Mourinho's Chelsea, by declaring: "This is what I call team spirit."

Cech became disillusioned at Stamford Bridge when forced to play second fiddle to Thibaut Courtois.

And he is delighted his £11million move to the Emirates has had such a happy start.

The keeper, who lifted the Barclays Asia Trophy after Arsenal beat Everton 3-1 on Saturday, claims there is a much more positive dressing room environment than he ever found at the champions.

He described it as "extraordinary" and added: "What I've found is a group of players who work very hard and are focused on what they are doing on the pitch to get ready."

"I've found the team spirit quite extraordinary."

"Everybody pulls in the same direction, which is why I believe we will have a successful season."

The 33-year-old also revealed he believes Arsenal are close to bridging the gap on Chelsea, even though the Gunners have won just two major trophies to the Blues' 11 over the past 10 seasons.

Asked what the difference is between his old club and his new one, Cech said: "Little details."

Arsenal boss Arsene Wenger has never managed to beat a Mourinho side, but Cech added: "If you have a game with two big teams it's decided by the little details."

"In all those games Chelsea were on top we managed the little details better. I hope to be on the winning side again. It's as simple as that. I play football to win games."

Cech's old team mate Nemanja Matic is also on Mourinho's back, slamming the decision to sell the keeper.

The Chelsea star says the transfer will damage their bid to retain the title.

The midfielder said: "Petr is a great guy and a great keeper. It is going to be a very important signing for them."

"But I am not happy because of that. We know that he is very professional. He is one of the best keepers."

"And I hope this season he does not perform as he did here for over 10 years."

"I am happy for him because he gets to stay in London, which for him and his family was very important. I wish him all the best."
